

GLOBAL CLEANTECH CONNECT™

Are you a cleantech company looking for business partners, distributors or sales leads in the U.S., primarily targeted in the South and Southeast? Then Global Cleantech Connect consultants are the experts to help you achieve your objectives.

What we do:

Global Cleantech Connect is an innovative global market assessment and match-making company that provides assistance to businesses from around the world in the cleantech industry who are seeking to enhance their market outreach, increase production and expand international sales.

What we provide:

Using our established relationships and our extensive database we link global cleantech companies with key decision makers in both the government and private sectors as well as provide introductions to respected institutions and associations. Using our rich industry knowledge, we provide deep-dive market analyses and strategic planning to ensure you are headed in the direction to success. Our team will additionally support your successful product launch with the development and management of focused marketing and communication strategies.

Who we are:

We have had our fingers on the pulse of the sustainability industry for over 30 years. We have extensive resources through our Pool of Experts, subject matter authorities that can provide proven, best-in-class strategies and sustainable solutions for the world's challenges that face us today.

Our proven results:

“I have had the pleasure of benefiting from Alex's vast cleantech industry knowledge and expansive business relationships in virtually every major sector (government, businesses and organizations) for over three years. In my role, where I am responsible for developing trade between Québec and the Southern United States, Alex has been a key player in many core accomplishments including assisting the more than 15 companies from Quebec who participated in Atlanta’s Environmental Trade Mission. Recently, he was able to provide excellent matchmaking opportunities when I was working on a trade mission to South Florida. His contributions resulted in concrete sales. I would recommend his services and expertise in any endeavor related to pulling resources and people together to move cleantech initiatives forward.” Louise Fortin, Director, Trade Division, Quebec Government Office

“Working with Alex for the Environmental Trade Mission in Atlanta was a very positive experience and I hope to be able to collaborate with him in the future. Alex is knowledgeable, reliable and fun to work with.” Claudio Leoncavallo, Consul General, Consulate General of Switzerland, Atlanta

“I think it was extremely helpful in sharing new concepts and looking at alternative options for the future.” Delores Rodgers-Smith, Senior Environmental Specialist, U.S. EPA Region 4, RCRA Programs and Materials Management Branch

“I think it was wonderful to see all this innovation coming to the U.S. through the efforts of Global Cleantech Connect.” Galit Levitin, Co-Founder, Green Chamber of the South

“The Environmental Trade Mission 2009, managed by Global Cleantech Connect, is the best I have been to, including recent trade missions to Europe (Barcelona), San Francisco (USA), and Mexico City. The quantity of the meetings along with the caliber of people was superb. I started the mission to test the SE markets and have ended up getting several very qualified leads. Thanks Global Cleantech Connect!” Martin Clermont, CEO, Gedden, Inc.

Contact us:

Alex McCray, CEO

678.878.1823 | Alex@GlobalCleanTechConnect.com

www.EnvironmentalTradeMission.org